Dear Rosenblum;

Thank you very much for promising to write in few pages (but write more, if you like it!) your opinion about the change in evaluating the Academic art of nineteenth century. Other contributors are, at present, Pierre Rosenberg, Bruno Foucart, Werner Hoffmann. I have received also a long letter by John Rewald (you can imagine it's content).

About the deadline it would be useful for us to have your contribute at the end of September or at the beginning of October. You will be paid, of course, but I don't know how much: I will ask the publisher.

With all best wishes.

Yours sincerely,
